

Italian shock troops in an attack with smoke bombs.

Italian Official From Western Newspaper Union

SO THIS IS THE PIAVE!

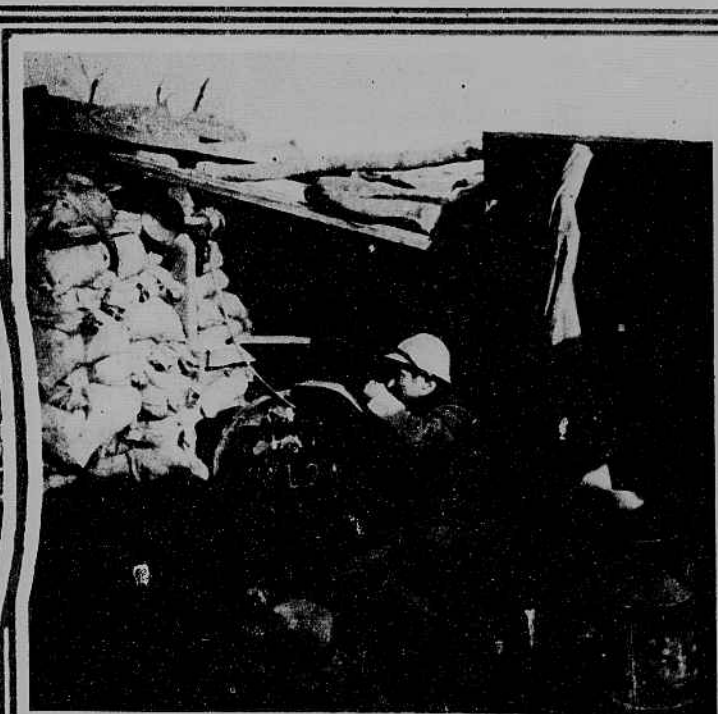

As the Austrian High Command will testify, the river has been swollen by recent rains to many times this size. This fact, together with the Italian army, was the cause of the Austrians' undignified withdrawal.

Central News

A reception committee, equipped with grenades, waiting for a Boche patrol

French Pictorial

A water cooler in the trenches. The auto horn above the entrance to the dugout is to warn of gas attacks.

Gillman Service

An Austrian quartermaster's convoy, hit by an Italian shell, with its cargo of official documents scattered over the road. More work for the file clerk

Thorn, Morgenthau

If it takes four armed German soldiers to remove a cartload of decrepit French peasants from Montdidier, how many will it take to remove the French, British and American armies from the path to Paris?

Press Illustration